In FY 2019-20, foundation programs continued despite the challenges brought forth by COVID-19 thanks to the generosity of our donors.

Educator’s Ag Institute brought 110 teachers together across the country to learn new ways to incorporate agriculture into their classrooms.

2020 started with the Pennsylvania Farm Show where farmers connected with families to learn where their food comes from.

2020 Ag Literacy Week kicked off with a reading of On the Farm, At the Market by Foundation chairman Rick Ebert at an elementary school in Westmoreland County just before schools closed this spring. The foundation adapted the program for volunteers to read to classrooms virtually. The foundation hosted a virtual reading of the book with more than 650 families tuning in.
Financial Statement

Income
Sponsorship $154,417
Investments $892
Contributions $462,401
Other $17,167
Total: $634,877

Expenses
Program expenses: $548,250
Administration: $72,158
Total: $620,408

Board of Directors
Richard Ebert, chair
Chris Hoffman, vice chair
James Barbour
John Painter
David Graybill

TEACHING STUDENTS
Each year, our Mobile Ag Ed Science Lab Program connects with schools across Pennsylvania. More than 70,000 students were reached between our in-person and virtual programs this year.

SUPPORTING TEACHERS
More than 100 teachers from Pennsylvania and across the United States participated in the 2020 Educator’s Ag Institute Virtual. Our foundation provides classroom-ready lesson plans through the National Agricultural Curriculum Matrix.

ADAPTING VIRTUALLY
To assist and grow educational opportunities, the foundation launched a monthly farm tour series connecting classrooms with farms across Pennsylvania. More are being added.

Impact Report 2019-20

Pennsylvania Friends of Agriculture Foundation
A Charitable Organization Supported by Pennsylvania Farm Bureau